

THIS WEEK'S BIG IDEA:

Jesus surrounded himself with others and was usually immersed in community. The relationships weren't always easy and they took great commitment—but the effort was worth it and then some. Jesus invites us to be part of a community.

DISCUSS

People with “refrigerator rights” can come into your house and take what they want out of your fridge without asking. And vice versa. What are the blessings of these types of relationships?

How does a person create close, meaningful relationships where both parties have refrigerator rights?

Jesus gathered a group of people who he shared his life with. Why do you think Jesus did this? What does Jesus' example teach you?

You are one friendship / community away from changing your life. What are obstacles we face in creating friendships and developing community? How do you overcome these obstacles?

For those not in a group, what is preventing you from joining a group?

For those in a group, what do you like best about your group? What are some practices that will strengthen your group and the relationships in your group?

A Jesus lived in community with others. What is a next step from this study you are going to apply to your life? (Write it in the space below.)

JOURNALING

NEXT WEEK:

Pray and Play. Healthy people pray and play. The best friendships and groups pray and play together. Praying and playing seem like opposite activities and maybe they are—but people who pray and play together stay together.
